$553,224 Project Finished After Almost 2 Years' Work

City's Completed Sewage Plant Starts Operation

Salem's improved sewage disposal plant began full operation today after work on all major facilities was completed, Aubrey Hayes, superintendent of utilities, reported.

The new plant is capable of handling the sewage of a population of 20,000, Hayes revealed.

The finished plant represents almost two years of actual work and drawn-out controversy and litigation regarding its method of financing.

Work Started in 1955

Work on the sewage project was started in July, 1955 by the John H. Murnane Co. of Cleveland at a construction cost of $553,224. During the past 18 months the company installed a 100-foot trickling filter, a 25-foot sludge thickener, a control building, two 55-foot digesters, a grit removal chamber and a parshall flume.

Other improvements include sand drying beds, new primary and secondary machinery, and miscellaneous tanks, pumps, blowers, electrical apparatus and masonry.

The old disposal plant, designed in 1927 by F. S. Barckhoff, was the first activated sludge sewage treatment plant in Ohio. The present expansion program more than doubles the old plant's capacity of one million gallons of sewage per day.

Completion Date Postponed

John Wright, resident engineer for the Malcolm Pirnie Engineers of New York City who designed the project, had originally predicted that the plant would be completed "sometime in July or August, 1956" but because of wet weather and slow delivery of machinery at the time, the completion date was postponed until Oct. 30, 1956. Another delay in delivery of machinery postponed the completion date until today.

Explaining the operation of the plant, Hayes said that the sewage first passes through the screen-house where sticks, rags, large stones and debris that would ordinarily clog the pumps are removed.

The sewage then passes through a grit removal chamber that takes out sand and cinders.

Solids in the sewage are then passed to the primary settling tank for further treatment.

Next Stage for Liquids

Chemical and physical action on liquid sewage takes effect in the high rate trickling filter, the next stage for liquids after the primary settling tanks. Solids from the primary settling tank then pass on to the sludge thickening tank where additional solid sewage is treated for passage into the digesters.

The two new digesters convert the settled sewage solids into innocuous organic matter suitable for use as a fertilizer.

In the process of digestion, a gas is formed having a BTU value

14 Persons Hurt In Car Mishaps Over Weekend

4 In Lisbon Family Injured; Patrolmen Arrest 3 Motorists

Fourteen persons were injured in seven auto accidents that occurred on district highways Saturday and Sunday. Three drivers were arrested.

Five people, including four in one family, were injured in a three car mishap on Rt. 154, three miles east of Lisbon, Saturday at 10:45 a.m.

Injured were: Frank Kannal, 77, of New Waterford, and Louis Sutherin, 25, Leroy Sutherin, 29, John Sutherin 3, and Gene Sutherin, 6, all of Lisbon.

Patrolmen said the accident occurred when Kannal, traveling west, made a left turn into the path of the eastbound Sutherin auto.

The impact drove Sutherin's car against a parked car owned by Lester Crowl, 49, of Signal. Crowl was unhurt.

Kannal was admitted to City Hospital for abrasions and contusions of the neck. He is in fairly good condition.

Louis Sutherin received lacerations of the face and mouth and abrasions of the knee; his brother, Leroy, the driver, suffered a lacerated right eye; and Leroy's two sons, John and Gene, sustained a possible broken nose and contusions of the forehead, respectively. The Sutherins were treated by a physician in Lisbon.

Cited By Patrolmen

Kannal was arrested for reckless operation.

Three persons were hurt when a Greyhound bus and a car collided on Rt. 7, one and one-half miles south of Boardman, Saturday at 9:30 p.m.

Patrolmen said a car operated by William Orr, 38, of Poland, skidded on the icy road and struck the bus which was driven by Wallace McQuaid, 44, of Pittsburgh.

Orr was admitted to Youngstown South Side Hospital with lacerations of the knee and a "whiplash" neck injury. He is in good condition.

Bus passengers who were injured are: Delores Clark, 23, of Pittsburgh, lacerations of the left eye; and Mary Wells, 61, of Barber-

Israel To Give U. N. Withdrawal Plans

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Israel planned to give the U. N. General Assembly further word today on prospects for its withdrawal from Egypt and the Gaza Strip.

Arab delegations were expected to press their resolution demanding sanctions against Israel should Israel retreat from its promise of "full and prompt withdrawal" made to the Assembly Friday by Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Word from Jerusalem was that Premier David Ben-Gurion and a majority of his Cabinet were reconciled to going ahead with the withdrawal despite considerable opposition from both government allies and opponents.

Although two of the five government coalition parties said they opposed withdrawal, it was believed in Jerusalem a majority of the Knesset (Parliament) would endorse a troop pullout.

U. N. To Learn Stand

Israeli U. N. Delegate Abba Eban said on a New York television program, "We shall also make our position clear in the General Assembly. There will be a statement by the government of Israel to the U. N. Monday."

There was no official comment from Cairo, but two Cairo newspapers said President Nasser's government was no bound any "bargains" between the United States and Israel.

"The political situation after aggression must be the same as before aggression," Al Ahran said. "What follows a withdrawal is Egypt's asking for compensation for aggression against her."

Muhammad H. El Farra of Syria an Arab League spokesman at the U. N., told a reporter his group would push its resolution calling the sanctions against Israel "if no signs of complete withdrawal appear."

But Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon said sponsors of the resolution would make up their minds only after they knew Israel's final decision. The resolution has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of Israel's negotiations with the United States and the U. N.

U. S. Resolution Possible

A U. S. delegation source said there was "still a possibility" that the United States would introduce a substitute resolution it began drawing up a week ago but shelved when Mrs. Meir's announcement was arranged.

The American source said this would have embodied sanctions provisions "quite different" from those in the Asian-African proposal and presumably less harsh or less immediate. The Asian-African

Election Tension Grows In Ireland

Fear IRA May Strike Gesture Of Defiance

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Tension gripped Ireland today on election eve, sparked by fears that the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) might strike a dramatic gesture of defiance.

Although the campaign was the quietest since southern Ireland's 26 counties won independence in 1922, special emergency precautions were taken along the jittery frontier separating the republic from the six British-ruled northern counties of Ireland.

De Valera Appears Leading

American - born, 74-year-old Eamon de Valera, in fighting trim though nearly blind, has wound up a strong campaign to win back the premiership. De Valera's Fianna Fail (men of destiny) appeared out front in the campaigning for the Republic's 18th national election Tuesday.

The election was forced by the resignation of a coalition government led for the past three years by John A. Costello, mild-mannered 65-year-old Dublin lawyer.

Sinn Fein, political arm of the illegal IRA, has entered a slate of 19 parliamentary candidates for the election as a show of strength. The Sinn Feiners say they would not take their seats in the Dail (parliament) even if they won, as a protest against the partition of Ireland.

IRA Raids Condemned

The established political parties, though favoring uniting the country, have condemned the IRA's recent armed raids into northern Ireland as a futile way of solving the problem.

An American Irishman has appeared on the platform at Sinn Fein rallies urging support of the movement. He was identified as John Lafferty, 60, Chicago, who was born in Londonderry, Ulster, and emigrated to the United States in 1929.

Lafferty said he was retired and had returned to Ireland to visit his sisters. He declined to discuss his activities on behalf of the united Ireland cause.

Six of the 19 Sinn Fein candidates are serving jail terms for terrorism, but a strong sympathy vote for their party could have a tremendous influence on the incoming government.

Premier Orders Forces Out Of Gaza and Aqaba

Israel To Trust U. S., U. N. For Protection From Egyptian Guns

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier David Ben-Gurion gave the final go-ahead today for an immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba coast.

A government spokesman announced Ben-Gurion had ordered the Israeli army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, to invite Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the commander of the U. N. Emergency Force (UNEF), to meet with him this afternoon "to discuss measures necessary to carry out the withdrawal of forces in accordance with the statement by the foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir."

To Go Before Parliament

The announcement was made in advance of an appearance by Ben-Gurion before the Israeli Knesset (parliament) at which the grizzled old Premier was slated to reaffirm Israel's decision to pull out of the disputed areas, trusting to the United States and the United Nations for protection against a renewal of Egyptian shooting.

Mrs. Meir had announced to the U. N. Assembly Friday that the Israeli troops would retire behind the 1949 armistice lines. But opposition to the decision in Israel resulted in instructions from Ben-Gurion to Ambassador Abba Eban to seek "clarifications" of the assurances given by the United States.

Weekend Of Meetings

After a weekend of Cabinet meetings and conferences, informed sources said the Premier had finally gotten his divided government's permission to pull the troops back.

Withdrawal could get underway this week.

The dramatic announcement was made to newsmen at midday as Ben-Gurion was engaged in nonstop conferences with leaders of political parties, including the leaders of the two parties in his

Missing Child Found In Closet

Girl May Have Died Of Fright, Starvation

BELLMAWR, N. J. (AP) — The search for tiny Mary Jane Barker ended in a closet of a vacant ranch house Sunday where a playmate found the huddled body of the pretty, blonde child.

Six-year-old Maria Fietta, visiting the newly built house of her aunt, playfully threw open a closet door. A puppy, which had disappeared along with Mary Jane last Monday, bounded out, alive and frisky. On the floor lay 4-year-old Mary Jane, her blonde tresses covered by the hood of her jacket.

A medical authority connected with the investigation — he declined to be identified — said in his opinion the child probably died of fright and starvation after being trapped in the cold darkness with the black spaniel puppy. A preliminary autopsy indicated Mary Jane had eaten nothing since she drank a glass of chocolate milk shortly before she vanished about 10:30 a.m. last Monday.

A pathologist said a cursory examination gave no indication of "foul play" nor was there any evidence the girl had been criminally assaulted.

Edward Garrity, Bellmawr police chief, said his men had thoroughly checked the brick, one story home the day after Mr. and

Navy Displays Deadly 'Sidewinder' Missile

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — Guided-missile Sidewinder is as deadly as its name, the Navy proved in the first public demonstration of the new weapon.

The pilot of a Demon jet fighter knocked a drone target plane out of the sky with a Sidewinder on his first shot at this naval ordnance test station Friday.

The station was established in 1943 in the southeastern California desert. It developed the Holy Moses and Tiny Tim ground-to-air rockets used in World War II.

Today, it is the Navy's major facilities for development of rockets and missiles.

The Sidewinder — a product of the scientists and military men who staff this station — is an air-to-air weapon fired by a plane to destroy another plane. It was the first guided missile conceived, developed and produced in its entirety by a government laboratory.

It was named for the lethally poisonous rattlesnake that infests this desert country.

The Atlantic, Pacific and 6th Fleets have been equipped with the Sidewinder.

The missile, Navy officials explained, greatly extends the "kill range" of a fighter or bomber. "It's like having a six-foot reach on the other fellow in a boxing bout," said Lt. Cmdr. C. A. Tierney.

In its demonstrations of air fire

Red Cross Workers Open Drive Today

Seventy five workers in the current Red Cross drive gathered this morning in the Memorial Building for a kick-off breakfast. The drive is expected to be completed by Wednesday, March 20.

Instructions, kits and rules were presented at today's breakfast by Norman Eckfeld, general chairman; Glenn Davis, co-chairman; Charles Fox, chairman of the Red Cross board of directors; and Miss Hazel Linn, local Red Cross executive.

Workers began solicitations this morning. The first report of money collected has been set for Friday.

Goal in this year's drive is $21,476, an increase of $1,500 over the 1956 goal. A total of $14,835 of the total collected, if the goal is reached, will remain in Salem for local chapter work. The remaining amount will go into the national Red Cross fund.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There's a busy fellow in Pittsburgh who's been trimming others as often as he does his cuticles. So he has been able to parlay a job with the Common Laborers Union into a career which has put 100 pair of shoes and 60 suits in his closet — a n d folding money in each of the pockets. Finally the federal closed in on him.

What troubled this Nick Stirone was not the federal as much as the traumatic realism of not being able to match each pair of shoes with a suit, as you and I can do.

I raise the glistening image of Stirone to personalize the new issue of the day and the newest of the nouveau riche — the big money unionists.

For that's what the Senate select committee hearings on racketeering are all about — the power of men who parlay unions into wealth which is all tied up in cash.

IF YOU'LL FORGIVE the expression, the hero of the current probe is Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, horseman, sport and maker of city officials.

Brother Brewster is a heavy spender with whims like iron to which he catered — as did others. So it was inevitable that the U.S. Treasury Department should take a pleasurable view of such opulence.

The report is that on looking deeper into Mr. Brewster's generosity they found that it did not extend to sufficient contributions to the Internal Revenue Service. In fact, the Treasury Department figured that Brother Brewster had unwittingly or cynically underestimated his debt to society by several hundred thousand dollars.

This really didn't make Brother Brewster a second class citizen in the teamsters. There also apparently is quite a difference of opinion between Brewster's chief, Dave Beck, and the income tax people.

All of which you can find in the hands of the Senate probing committee if you look past some of the frills of the sessions which come under the heading of "Call Me Madam."

Now the story inside the Teamsters Brotherhood, a meaningful phrase at this moment, is that Brewster called together the leaders of the Western Conference of Teamsters — from the 11 states it covers — and explained his financial plight.

HE NEEDED FUNDS to repay those insistent Treasury people. Could the leaders dig into their pockets and lend him the money? Sure they could. But one fellow came up with an even warmer, more fraternal thought in this brotherhood of men.

Why not borrow the money from the union itself? So the loans were authorized. Now I'm not privy to the secret Treasury Department reports. But the senators are. They may soon reveal just how all this was handled.

Borrowing money from a union or lending its dues dollars for taverns and more gauche investments to prove that a house, even of labor, may not be a home, is a matter of taste.

But observe this — there is an enormous amount of money being made out of the leadership of some unions.

Just total all those thousands of dollars which were handled as private funds of the officials.

Just try to estimate what the income must have been for a man to fall behind several hundred thousand dollars in taxes.

That's the moral issue the AFL-CIO national leadership now faces as the Senate committee prepares to open similar hearings on the Operating Engineers and then on down the chain of command of the mob network.

THIS ISSUE will lead to a bitter internal fight which may well split the newly merged AFL-CIO within the next six months.

Word is that AFL president George Meany is positively determined to treat the federation's biggest union, the 1,400,000 member teamsters, as he has the three small unions which will most likely be suspended next May.

He has said that he cannot treat the small outfits differently from the large ones even if it means expelling the teamsters. Otherwise there would be a double standard.

The warning to the small unions included a demand for the ouster of the national officers who tolerated unethical practices. That will be the word to the teamsters. Before the teamsters do that, they'll walk, not drive, to the nearest exit. This story has just begun.

Using Lake Erie Water Proposed

Officials From Three Counties To Convene

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Officials from three counties gather here today to hear a proposal for meeting growing water needs by tapping the waters of Lake Erie.

Presenting the case for a pipeline to supply an eight-county area is John H. Byrne, executive secretary of the Lake Erie Watershed Conservation Foundation. Lending support is Frank W. Edwards, a partner in the Stanley Engineering Co., which made a long-term survey of the eight-county area.

Results of that survey, indicating that the area faces a deficit of 1,150 million gallons of water daily by 1980, were to be explained in detail today.

The explanation was prepared for a meeting of the Area Development Committee, representing interests in Summit, Portage and Medina counties, and the Akron Chamber of Commerce.

Declaring that in two years the water pinch will begin to be felt in many areas, Byrne said the proposed pipeline from Lake Erie would be the solution.

Other sessions in other areas on the brink of a water shortage will be held later, Byrne said.

Legislation to set up a regional authority with powers to build the pipeline is being prepared, Byrne noted, adding that if the legislation is not ready for this session of the Legislature a special session might be requested.

The foundation is an educational organization and has no authority except to explore and advocate.

Driver Faces Hearing In Hit-Skip Fatality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Andrew Edwards, 27-year-old Columbus man, faces preliminary hearings today in the hit-skip traffic death of Mrs. Ella Galvin, 67, on Christmas Eve, 1955.

Columbus police, tipped off by an anonymous phone call, arrested Edwards at his home Saturday. He told police he knew he "hit something" the night of the accident and that the death has "bothered" him from time to time.

Police said evidence shows Mrs. Galvin was crossing at a downtown intersection against the traffic signal when she was struck. As a result, authorities said, Edwards cannot be charged with second degree manslaughter.

Sgt. Ted R. Thrall, chief traffic investigator, said Edwards will be charged with hit-skip driving, a charge that carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $200 fine.

Heuss Is First German Chief of State To Visit United States Since The War

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — When the famed Dr. Albert Schweitzer was an unknown parish priest in Germany back in 1908, he offered this prophecy at a wedding he had just performed:

"This happy couple is not only making a vow to live for each other, but to love with each other for something."

The couple was Theodor Heuss and Elly Knapp, and they have been living Schweitzer's words ever since — for long years in relative obscurity, today in the spotlight as spiritual leaders of reborn Germany.

America's spotlight will focus on Heuss Wednesday when he arrives in Washington for the first visit of a German chief of state to the U.S. since the last war.

The 73-year-old president of the West German Republic — like other foreign dignitaries from India's Nehru to King Saud — is making the long trek at President Eisenhower's invitation. He is coming to the U.S. on important business or, as the diplomats say, "to cement friendly relations" between America and the Bonn Federal government.

FOR AMERICANS who have not forgotten Hitler this will be the first opportunity to meet the outstanding leader of the "new" democratic Germany. Although he does not wield the political power of old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, it is nevertheless Heuss who has emerged only eight years ago to become the leader of his nation.

A scholarly man with kindly gray eyes and a mane of white hair, there is no parallel for Heuss in German political history. His two pre-war predecessors as chief of state were Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Adolf Hitler.

But there are no "heroic" myths about Heuss as there were about his predecessors. He never wore a uniform like Hindenburg, the iron-minded legendary old "hero-soldier." He never harangued frenzied mobs like Hitler. He is, on the contrary, a typical civilian — an easy-going south German teacher and ex-newspaperman who delights people with his grass-roots humor and warm personality. It is characteristic of Heuss that although he has achieved eminence as a literary man the first book he ever wrote was on wine growing. He still enjoys a glass of German red wine and good cigars which he practically chain-smokes while engaged in lively conversation.

EVEN THE MAJORITY of West Germans knew little about Heuss when he was elected to his first five-year term in 1949.

THEODOR HEUSS: A glass of red wine and good cigars.

"Who is this man, Heuss?" they asked puzzled.

(In West Germany, as in France, a President is elected by a Federal Assembly (Bundesversammlung) and not in a popular national contest like in the U.S.)

But post-war German leaders, desperately trying to pick up the pieces of their ruined nation, were aware of Heuss' stature as a man and his valuable contribution to the struggle against Hitler. They saw in him the man who would lead the Germans — after more than a decade of Nazism — along the path of democracy and freedom.

The ordinary Germans remained unconvinced. They were gradually getting accustomed to the stern image of Chancellor Adenauer — the political creator of the Bonn Republic. But they didn't quite know what to make of the new chief of state.

YET A FEW SHORT MONTHS later Heuss became the spokesman of the new West German Republic — the voice and conscience of what remained of Germany's democratic heritage after Hitler.

When this correspondent witnessed the President's second inauguration in Berlin in 1953, Heuss was already respected and acclaimed as a great democratic statesman, not only in Germany but throughout Europe.

The West German President comes from an old family in Swabia, a south German region often called the cradle of German democracy. His ancestors were farmers, foresters, river boatmen and municipal architects. A democrat since his youth, Theodor Heuss, like his father, fought throughout his life for social advancement — true to the tradition of his Swabian homeland.

ON JULY 20, 1944, Heuss took part in the famous plot on Hitler's life. When the plot failed and Hitler's blood-hounds were tracking down the plotters, Heuss disappeared and, despite the ruthless persistence of the Nazi secret police, was never found.

As the months went by the files on Heuss at the Gestapo headquarters grew bigger and fatter until one day, during an air raid on Berlin, they were found by one of Heuss' accomplices who took them and threw them into a burning building.

Thus ended Hitler's "case" against Theodor Heuss who was now able to emerge from his Heidelberg hideout to witness the final drama of Germany's destruction. Sensing that Hitler's days were numbered, Heuss set out courageously to instill a new spirit in the land.

His first message to the free world was: "Help the German people — don't merely curse them." This has been his byword ever since.

These Separates Are Versatile

Vacationing now in sunny spots and looking forward to summer at home are separates in a traveling fabric made of dacron and flax. This new combination provides a fabric that's firm and crisp, with a slubbed texture. (Flax is the fiber from which linen is woven). Such separates launder easily and take a minimum of touch-up ironing. They pack well, coming out of a suitcase fresh and uncreased. For a one-piece look (left), blouse with rows of drawn-work and embroidery teams up with a skirt with the Paris-inspired Dutch Boy top. Color is beige. Blouse at right as crisscross collar that buttons off to show a high, round, jewel neckline. Belted skirt is cut in a heavier version of the fabric.

Senate Delays Vote On Middle East Plan

WASHINGTON: — With overwhelming passage seemingly assured, the Senate delayed voting and set today aside for further debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution.

coalition which threatened to quit over the withdrawal issue.

Ben-Gurion ordered the withdrawal to proceed even before he reported to the Knesset or held a "final" meeting with his Cabinet.

The official spokesman said the reason for the go-ahead was that "latest clarifications" of the American position has been received from the United States, and that Ben-Gurion had been in talks with most Cabinet members.

Simultaneously it was announced Ben-Gurion will report to the Knesset Tuesday.

Ben-Gurion's withdrawal order, taken over the head of the Knesset, was unusual, if not unprecedented. Never in the nine-year history of Israel has a premier taken a major step such as this without going before parliament.

The initial assumption by foreign observers here was that Ben-Gurion acted under American pressure. He also was known to feel unwilling to reverse the decision to withdraw announced to the world by Israel last Friday.

almost equal to that of natural gas.

Machinery in the new plant will utilize this gas for operating the heating plant and aeration equipment.

To Sand Drying Beds

Following treatment in the digesters, the solids are sent to the sand drying beds. The last stage for liquid sewage after treatment in the high rate trickling filter is in the final settling tanks.

Both liquids and solids are run through the aeration tanks for further treatment with oxygen before passing into the final settling tanks. After leaving the final settling tanks, the sewage passes into nearby streams. Salem's permit for passing raw sewage into the streams would have expired Aug. 15.

Hayes said the 4,985-foot interceptor sewer line that collects sewage from the south section of the city has been in operation since last August. The project, started June 20, 1955 by Leslie Hoopes & Son Co. of Georgetown Road, was built at a construction cost of $81,684.75.

The sewer is of 18-inch pipe extra strength vitrified tile pipe and contains 23 brick manholes.

It collects sewage from Southeast Blvd. and S. Lincoln Ave. and runs from S. Lincoln Ave. westerly across Carlton St. in Hillsdale to Broadway, north on Broadway to Aetna St., and east on Aetna St. to connect with the main sewer on S. Ellsworth Ave.

State Order Issued in 1952

Salem's sewage problems began in 1952 when the Ohio Pollution Control Board ordered the city to improve its existing sewage facilities to adequately handle the city's sewage and cease dumping untreated waste matter into area streams.

City Council passed a sewer rental ordinance in March, 1953, establishing a sewer tax to provide funds for the project. Rates were set at 65 per cent of the water rates.

The original plan proposed by former City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff Sr. was to construct a separate sewage treatment plant south of the city.

Several months after the sewer rental tax ordinance was passed, a group of Salem citizens led by James Aldom, proprietor of Aldom's Diner, placed two ordinances on the ballots of the November election.

One of the measures called for a repeal of the 65 per cent sewer rental tax ordinance, and the other asked a refund of the money collected under the tax ordinance.

Both were passed by voters. However, City Solicitor W. J. Hunston asked the courts to rule on the legality of the refund ordinance.

Aldom, running for Council president, headed a group of Democrats who won a majority of the city offices in the 1953 election on a platform partially based on a promise to reduce sewer rates.

The new Council subsequently passed a 35 per cent sewer rental tax ordinance (later increased to the present 53 per cent) and hired the Malcom Pirnie Engineers to design the recently completed improvements.

Climaxing the sewer tax dispute, Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp declared the sewer tax refund ordinance invalid in February of 1956. The $63,000 collected under the ordinance was released for city use on the sewer project.

2 Soil Conservation Supervisors Named

LISBON — One hundred and seventy persons attended the annual meeting of the Columbiana Soil Conservation District Saturday evening at Guilford Grange hall.

Floyd Heft, state supervisor of Ohio State University, spoke on conservation.

He cited statistics showing how rural land is being taken over by industry, and how less farm land is producing greater yields.

He said a greater yield can only be attained by the conserving of water, erosion control and efficient farming.

C. V. Phillips of Warren, area conservationist, introduced the speaker.

John Hull of Lisbon RD 1 and Wilbur Hays of Salineville RD 4 were elected to the board of supervisors for a three-year term. Hays won by a flip of a coin after he and Philip Goering were tied in the voting.

H. L. Reuter gave his yearly report and Edgar Haynam gave the treasurer's report. Arland Weaver, chairman of the board of supervisors, presented affiliate memberships to the Farmers National Bank, Witmer Implement Sales, Columbiana Tractor Sales, Gause and Richey Farm Supply and the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

Floyd Lower, county extension agent, was master of ceremony. Rev. Earl Brooks pronounced the invocation and benediction.

Jury Is Seated In $4,500 Civil Suit

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury was seated today in the $4,500 civil suit of Gary Lemaster, a minor, by his father, Kermit Lemaster of East Liverpool against the McAllister Dairy Farms, Inc. of Warren, and Pontiac Auto Transport Co., Buffalo, New York.

The plaintiff claims he was hurt July 5, 1955 when a car driven by his mother on Rt. 30, north of East Liverpool was struck by a McAllister truck. The car, in which he was a passenger, was then struck by the Pontiac company's truck, the plaintiff claims.

The jury is comprised of William Haessley, Jr., Harold Smith, Hazel Hutchinson, Helen Muntz, Ella Faulkner, Catherine Bischof, Norma Lozier and Roslyn Caplan of Salem; Carl Werner of East Liverpool; Elaine Hurd of Lisbon RD 5; and Esther Edgerton of Winona; Ruth Ann Stoffer of Homeworth. Dorothy Mercer of Salineville RD 2 is the alternate.

JAILED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Donald Leichter, 29, of 120 E. 3rd St., was fined $150 and sentenced to three days in jail Sunday by Mayor Dean B. Crammer on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Catholics Seek School Buses For Children

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Parents of 600 Roman Catholic parochial school children today told Mayor H. Lloyd Carey they will place their children in already crowded public schools unless their youngsters get public school bus service.

The mayor, a Catholic who already has favored such parochial school transportation, received a petition bearing parents' signatures from William H. Bean, Bean, a 30-year-old millhand, is one of the leaders of the effort.

The mayor said the matter will be considered at a meeting of the Board of Education and education committee of the City Council. He will be present and he said he assumes "efforts will be made to reach some solution."

The City Council has refused to provide the parochial school bus service which city voters endorsed by a vote of 3,915-2,470 in an informal referendum Dec. 10.

Augusta, Maine's capital city, has a population of 21,000 with 900 children attending two parochial schools.

There is no state law prohibiting transportation of parochial school pupils in public school buses, which pick up public school youngsters residing at least a mile and one-half from their schools.

A week ago the parents set a March 11 deadline for the city to provide transportation for 187 parochial pupils living along existing routes served by school buses.

After that date, Bean said, they will place their children in elementary schools now crowded by 2,300 pupils. School Supt. Perry Shibles said this would necessitate double class sessions.

can resolution would call on all U.N. members to stop military, financial and economic aid to Israel until she pulls her troops back.

The American resolution as tentatively drawn was understood to have proposed putting the Gaza Strip under temporary U.N. administration and declared the Gulf of Aqaba open to ships of all nations.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Friday endorsed freedom of navigation in the gulf, which leads from the Red Sea to the Israeli port of Eilat. He approved putting UNEF into the Gaza Strip but said the area's future must be worked out within the framework of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Lodge's statement on Gaza displeased the Israeli delegation because that agreement gave provisional control of the strip, a part of old Palestine, to Egypt.

An Egyptian delegation spokesman, Abdul Mawgoud Hassan, said Egypt felt the U.N. troops should enter the strip only "with the function of supervising the withdrawal of Israeli forces and the takeover by the Egyptian administration in accordance with the armistice agreement."

He said the Straits of Tiran leading past Sharm el Sheikh into the Gulf of Aqaba were "Egyptian territorial water." He added, "Our claim on it is governed by international law."

Three Men Arrested For Market Robbery

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Perry County authorities Sunday night were questioning three men believed involved in an $11,064 supermarket robbery here.

The three, John Rosebrough, 24, Denna Wayne Moore, 23, and Tommy Shope, 23, all of New Lexington, were arrested Saturday night. Their car contained the $11,064.

Police arrested the three men after spotting their car on U.S. 22, about five miles south of Zanesville.

Warren Donnelly, 63, manager of the supermarket, and Keith Reeves, 26, a store employee, identified the three as the men who robbed them.

Robert Tague, Perry County prosecutor, said no charges were filed immediately.

Hotels and motels reported capacity crowds, and union passenger terminal said some 54 pullman cars containing about 1,000 visitors were parked here. Terminal spokesmen said the railroad yards were full.

Ike Keeps Busy On Official Duties While Out Of Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower in these early days of his second term tending toward a more passive role in direction of the government?

You can get a spirited argument on any "yes" or "no" answer to that question, or to these others:

Is he now delegating more top policy authority to others? Does he look forward even more than during his first four years in office to trips away from Washington for a mixture of relaxation and work?

Some of the talk has been keyed to the Middle East crisis.

His request for authority to use American forces in that region, if necessary, and for permission to spend 200 million dollars there in foreign aid was having rough going in the Senate when, early in February, the White House announced Eisenhower would leave Feb. 8 on his annual trip to south Georgia for quail hunting and golf.

Rainfall Was Below Average In February

Four days separated the coldest and the hottest days during February, Edwin Copeland, area weather observer, reported today.

On Feb. 21 the temperature was only eight above, but only four days later, on Feb. 25, the mercury climbed to 69, Copeland stated.

Temperatures for the month averaged 33.6 degrees. Last year the average in February was 32.5. Despite the fact that rainfall was below average during February, the water condition in regard to winter crops is still in good shape. Rainfall averaged only 1.39 inches last month while in 1956, the wettest February in 64 years, the amount was 5.37 inches.

There were three inches of snowfall in February, Copeland revealed.

The 28 days in the month consisted of 10 cloudy days, nine partly cloudy days, and nine clear days, he pointed out.

'Dream' Apartments Built To Attract Nurses

NEW YORK (AP)—Montefiore Hospital, bothered by an inability to recruit night nurses, Sunday opened a $400,000 low-rent "dream house" apartment building to especially attract them.

"Most hospitals have very little trouble getting nurses for work in the day," explained Mrs. Elizabeth Staats, director of nursing at the Bronx hospital, "but it's very difficult to get night nurses."

Twenty-nine of the 40 apartments have been reserved for night nurses, who will pay $35 monthly rent.

More Union Scandals Loom

Senate To Resume
Probe Into Rackets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) says a special Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor and industry has "a dozen cases as bad as" a situation it is probing in Portland, Ore.

Mundt is a member of the committee which heard testimony last week concerning alleged alliances between officials of the powerful Teamsters Union and underworld elements.

The hearing resumes Tuesday. Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said James P. Elkins, a Portland gambler, will be recalled then for questioning about his prior allegations that some Teamsters Union officials and racketeers tried to grab control of gambling activities and after-hours drinking clubs in Portland.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said Elkins—who has been a "friendly" witness—will testify that tribute was collected from such activities, and will tell who got that money.

Kennedy said the committee will call William M. Langley, Multnomah County (Portland) district attorney now under indictment, and Clyde C. Crosby, organizer for the teamsters in Oregon, Wednesday.

He said Crosby will be questioned about his connections as a member of the Portland City Exposition-Recreation Commission. It has been charged in testimony that Crosby was allied with Portland underworld figures in efforts to influence selection of a site for an eight-million-dollar coliseum.

Mundt said the rackets investigation already has shown a need for legislation to foster better rank-and-file control of labor union funds and activities.

Lent Observances Set At St. Paul Church

Observance of Lent will begin at St. Paul Catholic Church on Ash Wednesday with the blessing with ashes after morning Masses, at 3:15 and 4 p.m. and after the evening devotions which will begin at 7:30.

The Hi-Study Club will meet tonight at 7 in the St. Paul School study room.

The church's weekly socials will be rescheduled from Wednesday evening to Tuesdays at 8 p.m. during Lent.

Quakers Face Powerful Canton McKinley Friday Night

McKinley Boasts 17-3 Record

Jackson, Lincoln To Play In 2nd Game

Salem's Quakers meet the powerful 1956 state runner-up Canton McKinley Bulldogs Friday night at 7:15 in the district Class AA tournament at the Canton Field House.

Drawings for the tourney were held Sunday in Canton. The Red and Black with a record of 16-4 will be pitting their basketball skill against Coach "Bub" Rearick's tall, talented quintet, who have a record of 17-3.

Coach John Cabas, playing in his first AA district event, stated optimistically that "we might as well play the big one right off."

McKinley's defeats this year were at the hands of Cuyahoga Falls, Farrell, Pa., and Massillon.

Salem has dropped decisions to Youngstown Rayen, Ashland, East Liverpool and Youngstown South. Liverpool has never played on the spacious field house floor, but will work out twice there this week.

Jackson's Polar Bears with a record of 19-0 take on Canton Lincoln's cagers, winners of 16 out of 19 ball games, in the 8:30 fray, with the winners of both games billed to play for the district championship Saturday night.

Coach Dale Haverstock's Jackson could prove to be the dark horse of the district. He has an inspired team with a well balanced attack and the Polar Bears have yet to taste defeat.

In other AA tournaments Poland, Youngstown South, Youngstown Ursuline and Newton Falls will vie for District honors Friday and Saturday at South Field House.

East Liverpool, upset victor over unbeaten Steubenville Big Red Saturday night 74-72, will play in the District championships at Muskingum. Alliance with a not too impressive record of six victories and 14 losses, plays for district championship at Kent.

Tebbetts Says Hacker May Assure Pennant

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts says righthander Warren Hacker may be the big gun in the Cincinnati Redlegs' pennant aspirations.

"He looks like money in the bank to me," said Tebbetts. "He could put us over in this year's National League pennant race."

Hacker, 32, came to Cincinnati from Chicago's Cubs after a lackluster 3-13 record last season, but Tebbetts thinks he can regain his old form.

"I'm not going to bother trying to teach him to throw a new pitch," the manager said. "He throws one of the best sinkers in the game and he also owns a good knuckler. But I am anxious for him to acquire more motion. I'm sure it would help him."

Tebbetts thinks Hacker could prove another Brooks Lawrence, who last year won 13 in a row, then went on to take 19 games for the Reds.

Stengel Disappointed With Carey's Hitting

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Andy Carey, regular third baseman with the New York Yankees for the past two seasons, has been threatened by eviction.

Manager Casey Stengel has been disappointed with Carey's stickwork and is looking for more batting punch at the position. But Carey is determined to remain at third.

"The only way anybody is going to beat me off my job is for the club to trade or sell me," Carey said Sunday.

FINSTERWALD WINS $450

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., and formerly of Athens, Ohio, carded a 72-71-73-71 for $450 Sunday in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Golf Tournament here.

Milan, Italy — Young Martin, 11½, Spain, knocked out Aristide Pozzali, 112, Italy, 4, (European title).

Delany Scores Double Win In IC4A Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Villanova track coach Jumbo Jim Elliott today shrugged off Ron Delany's fantastic double triumph in the IC4A championships — but in the next breath he painted a glowing word picture of his Olympic 1,500-meter champion.

Delany won the 1,000 and two-mile — a feat attempted many times but never before accomplished — Saturday night. That, in itself, was not surprising, for any time Delany steps on the track these days, he automatically becomes the favorite.

But after winning the 1,000 in a routine 2:14, he came back with just 48 minutes rest and won the two-mile in a meet — record 9:06.6, coming from 50 yards off the pace with three laps to go and running the final quarter in 57.5.

With Delany's double, plus victories by Charlie Jenkins in the 600 (1:12.1), Don Bragg in the pole vault (15 feet), Phil Reavis and Charlie Stead in the high jump (6-9½), and the mile relay (3:20.6) the Wildcats scored 46 points to make a runaway of the team race. Defending champion Manhattan was second with 23 1-3 points.

Salem Saxons Trip Youngstown 83-71

Salem Saxons upended Youngstown's Saxons 83-71 Saturday night at Homestead, Pa., in the opening game of a triple header.

Salem led all the way as they rushed to a 23-11 count by the end of the initial stanza. In the second frame the Salem squad added 26 more markers to their point total and led 49-25 at recess time.

In the third frame the Youngstown outfit put on a spurt and scored 23 points while the Salem five was making 14, and at the end of the third quarter Salem led 63-48. Youngstown outscored the Salem five in the last stanza 23 points to 20.

Matt Klein paced the winners with 33 markers and Paul Brall and Bob Roth tallied 24 points apiece for the losers.

Salem will play their next encounter against New Castle, in the YMCA at New Castle Saturday night.

HITTERS TO BE STARTERS

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs is determined to put the strongest hitting combination in his infield even at the expense of defensive strength.

As a result, all the infield positions are wide open, even shortstop where Ernie Banks has starred the last three years. Jerry Kindall is working at short with the idea of shifting Banks to either first or third.

Gene Baker, regular second baseman, might be moved to third if rookie Casey Wise can fill in at second base.

Also in the infield struggle are third basemen Ray Jablonski and first basemen Dee Fondy and Bob Speake.

before sending them on to the NCAA major college tournament.

North Carolina, No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll and undefeated in 24 regular season games, will open the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament against subpar Clemson (7-16) Thursday in Raleigh.

West Virginia, undefeated in 12 Southern Conference games, will be bolstered by the return of Hot Rod Hundley Thursday when the Mountaineers open the Southern tournament at Richmond against Davidson (7-19) for the season.

If both champions hurdle their league playoffs, they will join 21 others in the sectional struggle toward the NCAA finals in Kansas City March 22-23. Fifteen teams already are set for the tournament.

Here's the situation among other conferences yet to name their NCAA representatives:

Big Seven: The Kansas Jayhawks (19-2) and seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain, the sophomore key to their No. 2 national ranking, have clinched a title tie. Kansas could cement a tournament berth against second-place Kansas State (14-7) Wednesday.

Ivy League: Yale (16-7) needs victories against sixth-place Penn Wednesday and fifth-place Harvard Saturday to clinch the title and tournament berth.

Middle Atlantic: Temple (18-63) and Lafayette (22-3) are leading candidates.

Missouri Valley: The St. Louis Billikens (18-7) are assured of a first-place tie and could wrap up the Valley title and NCAA spot with a victory over tough Oklahoma A&M (16-8) Wednesday. Bradley (19-5), a game and a half behind, is in the running.

California Basketball Assn.: San Francisco (17-7), which virtually dropped from the national picture during a series of six early setbacks, is assured a tie and could clinch against St. Mary's Tuesday.

In addition, an "at-large" choice is pending.

Teams in the tournament are Kentucky, Southeastern Conference; Michigan State, Big Ten; Brigham Young, Skyline; South Methodist, Southwestern; Connecticut, Yankee; Morehead (Ky.); Ohio Valley; Idaho State, Rocky Mountain; Miami (Ohio), Mid-American; Texas Western, Border; California, Pacific Coast; and "at large" Canisius, Loyola (New Orleans), Oklahoma City, Syracuse and Notre Dame.

Schools which don't make the NCAA may receive bids to the 12-team National Invitation Tournament in New York March 16-23. Possibilities for the three remaining spots are Temple, Lafayette, Bradley, Utah, Skyline runner-up, and Duquesne.

Turner 2-1 Favorite Over Gwin Tonight

By The Associated Press
Veteran Gil Turner is a 2-1 choice to spoil Rudy Gwin's big-time debut at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia, who has fought most of the top welterweights and middleweights, figures to have too much experience for the 24-year-old Cleveland welterweight in the televised 10-round.

Turner, back in the welterweight (147 pounds) division, has a 51-14-1 record, including 34 kaos. Gwin, a former amateur and all-Navy champion, has a 7-2-2 record with only one kayo. Du Mont will telecast at 10:30 p.m., EST.

Amateurs instead of the pros are spotlighted on the Wednesday night radio-television boxing program from the Chicago Stadium.

The lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light-heavyweight and heavyweight finals of the Western Golden Gloves Championships will be beamed coast to coast.

Mikan's Offer For Lakers Rejected

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A slightly agitated George Mikan, his offer to buy the Minneapolis Lakers turned down by his former boss, planned a meeting with a Minneapolis business group today as a deadline neared for a change in Laker ownership.

Mikan's Saturday night offer to buy the Laker franchise on a $150,000 installment plan, was rejected Sunday by club president Ben Berger.

Berger said he had agreed to give a Minneapolis "civic group" a chance to buy the club, but that he could not sell to an individual.

To do this, he said, would violate his agreement with baseball man Marty Marion and his St. Louis business partner, Milton Fischmann, who "bought" the franchise provisionally last week. Marion and Fischmann want to move the Lakers to Kansas City.

Heavyweight Almost Killed By Potgieter

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A 266-pound heavyweight who narrowly missed death in a fight with a 335-pound South African was reported recovering in a hospital today.

Doctors said a 2½-hour operation saved the life of Bruce Olson, the 6-foot, 4-inch Kent, Wash., fighter who suffered a brain hemorrhage in his bout with 7-foot, 2-inch Ewart Potgieter.

Olson was knocked out in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout Saturday night. Helped to his feet after the count, he took a few wild swings, sank onto his stool in the corner and collapsed.

At a hospital seven tiny holes were drilled in his skull before a blood clot was found, said Dr. Clinton McGill, Oregon Boxing Commission physician, who assisted a team of neurosurgeons in the operation.

McGill said it would be several days before they could tell whether recovery would be complete.

Olson will never fight again anyway, said his manager, Maxie Weisbarth of Seattle.

BRANCA IMPRESSIVE

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Veteran Ralph Branca, attempting a comeback with the Brooklyn Dodgers, turned in an impressive mound stint in an intra-squad game Sunday.

The big righthander, who is on the St. Paul roster, pitched two scoreless innings and allowed only one hit.

146 Teams Remain In Ohio Cage Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's huge field of 1,045 high school basketball teams was whittled down to 146 today as the survivors wheeled into district championship play.

Of the 696 Class A starters, only 63 were left as the result of the "lose and out" county and sectional tournaments. In Class AA only 83 of 349 remained.

But both defending champions, Middletown in Class AA and Arcanum in Class A, were still on deck. The Middies equalled the state's "long run" record Saturday night by defeating Cincinnati Central 105-55 at Dayton to match the 46-game victory string which Dayton Stivers put together in 1929-31.

Arcanum was a 64-45 victor over Clark County Northwestern at Springfield, but the state's two top-ranked Class A squads fell by the wayside. Troy-Luckey, pacesetter in The Associated Press poll most of the season, was sidelined 53-52 by Rossford at Clyde, and second-place Lowellville was dumped 61-56 by Warren St. Mary at Youngstown. Third-place Vienna wallopped Champion 61-37 to stay alive.

Steubenville, third in the Class AA ratings, saw its 20-game winning streak shattered 74-72 by East Liverpool in the sectional finals on the victors' court, ending the Big Red's title dreams.

With the sectionals out of the way the 63 Class A teams move into district play this week at Westerville, Dover, Marietta, Canton, Delphos, Defiance, Tiffin, Mansfield, Athens, Portsmouth, Dayton, Cincinnati and Springfield.

The Class AA district meets are at Columbus, New Concord, Berea, Cleveland, Akron, Kent, Canton, Youngstown, Lima, Marion, Toledo, Athens, Cincinnati, Dayton and Troy.

By Saturday night only 16 teams will be left in each class, and they will move on to regional tournaments ending March 16. Regionals, with four teams in each, are at Canton, Lima, Troy and Athens in Class A, and Berea, Toledo, Kent and Cincinnati in Class AA. One team will move from each regional tournament to the state finals at Ohio State's new arena, March 22-23.

Spartans One Game Away From Title

By JOE MOOSHIL
The Associated Press

The Spartans of Michigan State hope to cap one of the greatest comebacks in Big Ten basketball history with a victory over arch-rival Michigan and an undisputed championship.

Michigan State whipped Indiana 76-61, Saturday night to take over first place in the Western Conference. These same Spartans lost their first three Big Ten games and it wasn't until 35 days ago that they scored their first conference triumph.

Since then Michigan State has won 10 straight and will represent the Big Ten in the NCAA championships even if Indiana and Ohio State gain a share of the title.

Should Indiana and Ohio State both win tonight and Michigan State loses, all three would finish with 10-4 records. Michigan State, however, gets the NCAA bid because Ohio State is on probation and Indiana in 1954 was the last of these three teams to play in the post-season tournament.

While Michigan State battles at Michigan, Indiana will be home against Illinois and Ohio State invades Minnesota. Other games filed Northwestern at Wisconsin and Iowa at Purdue.

Ohio State kept alive its hopes for a title share by defeating Northwestern, 84-70, Saturday. Other results were Minnesota 86, Illinois 75; Purdue 85, Wisconsin 66; and Michigan 83, Iowa 79.

The question tonight is can Michigan State defeat Michigan at Ann Arbor. It's been done this season when unpredictable Minnesota flattened the Wolverines 82-62.

Michigan, however, is partly the cause of Indiana's woes. The Wolverines last Monday snapped Indiana's six-game winning streak with an 87-86 victory at Ann Arbor.

Then, too, the Wolverines have hopes of finishing in the first division. They are currently tied with Illinois and Purdue for fifth place and have a chance of gaining a fourth place tie.

Michigan State also has incentive. The Spartans have not won a title since joining the Big Ten basketball wars in 1951. And Michigan State would like to avenge a 70-69 loss to Michigan at East Lansing earlier in the season.

Wallace scored 44 points against Clemson Saturday night and now has 806 points in 26 games.

Demaret Wins At Baton Rouge

Veteran Golfer Gets $2,000 First Prize

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Debonair Jimmy Demaret, long known as a snappy dresser, has a new golf style, but the same winning habit.

The 45-year-old Kimesha Lake, N.Y., veteran conquered miserable weather and the driving finish of Australian Peter Thomson Sunday to walk off with the $2,000 first prize in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open.

Demaret shot a 1-under-par 71 for a 278 total after 72 holes. Thomson had 70 and 79 to take the $1,500 second money.

"I made a slight change in my style before starting on this tour," Demaret said, "and I'm hitting the ball better than ever."

His steady sub-par play has placed him high among money winners in the last three PGA tournaments. He is fifth among money winners for 1957 with $5,364 in PGA events.

He picked up another $2,000 first prize in the non-PGA Tour d'Or Invitational at Palm Springs, Calif.

In Sunday's final round, the 6,450-yard, par-72 Baton Rouge Country Club course was waterlogged after a Saturday night rainstorm.

Three strokes back of Thomson were Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla., with 282. Furgol shot a 69 Sunday and Dickinson had 70.

Bill Nary, Wayne, Mich., second-day leader, was tied with Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., with 283. Both shot 72 Sunday.

Harrell Makes Strong Bid For 3rd Base

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Billy Harrell, 23-year-old rookie, is making a strong bid for the third-base position vacated when Al Rosen announced he would not be back in a Cleveland Indians uniform this year.

Harrell hit five for seven in two weekend intrasquad games at the Indians' training camp here. He hit two sharp singles in four appearances Sunday, knocking in the only run for the Red Kresses as the Eddie Stankys beat the Kresses 2-1.

Coming here from Puerto Rico, where he played winter baseball, Harrell handled several tough chances with ease at third base Sunday.

The Rock and Roll War Pro and Con By Five Top Singing Stars

Teresa Brewer Tony Bennett Kate Smith Bill Haley Rosemary Clooney

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Rock-and-roll is moving into its second year of fame and it's still in high gear. But moving along right with it is the criticism of the wild music, a criticism that sometimes gets pretty violent and inspires an equally violent defense from the rock-and-rollers.

This type of pro-and-con — a kind of rhetorical rock-and-roll — often reaches its peak among musicians, singers, composers. Some of them condemn rock-and-roll as unmusical nonsense. Others are surprisingly vehement for the defense.

Here are some opposing views of rock-and-roll by some of today's top singers:

ROSEMARY CLOONEY: Maybe there is something to be said for it but, you know, the musicians playing on those rock-and-roll records never tune their horns. They are never with the piano and the records sound like they got a bunch together in a vacant warehouse to perfect their recording technique.

Maybe we should keep the "big beat" of rock-and-roll and get back to music. If our top name orchestras, or possibly one yet to be organized, should develop a big-beat, only blending the harmony, rhythms and melody we have been so accustomed to with our big bands, maybe that would be the answer. I believe that this style of music is just another one of the passing fads.

TERESA BREWER: Rock-and-roll has its place in American music, but the place should not be dominant one on the pop scene. When it comes to lasting beauty and listenability, nothing will ever replace the plain ballad. Can you imagine "Hound Dog" becoming a standard or "Rock Around the Clock" still a favorite 10 years from now? Time is a good test of quality — and it will soon judge rock-and-roll's place in American music.

A rock-and-roll number is, in most instances, simply a beat dressed up to look like a song. However, after you've heard a few of them, you've heard 'em all.

TONY BENNETT: Rock-and-roll music has made it. Its mass popularity cannot be denied. It is the "desperateness" of this popularity that seems to scare people. And I wonder if that desperateness for the youngsters is not due, in part, to the complete condemnation of rock-and-roll by the adults.

Rock-and-roll, I feel, will eventually progress to a greater feeling for melody rather than beat, and we will get back to swing again.

KATE SMITH: Rock-and-roll is the rhythm of our time. Millions of people — adults, as well as youngsters — have indicated it's a form of music they like to hear, hum, sing and whistle.

Frankly, when I first began hearing rock-and-roll songs on the various disc jockey programs, my reaction was, "It's exciting, but it can't last." However, several months ago I began to get the feeling that rock-and-roll had lasting qualities.

I think that basically there are good rock-and-roll songs just as there are good ballads. There are also bad rock-and-roll songs, just as there are bad ballads. The beat itself is exciting. There is no reason why rock-and-roll should die, provided that the composers come up with good melodies and good lyrics.

AND FROM BILL HALEY, who claims to be one of the very first to popularize rock-and-roll — he called it "Live-It-Up" music at first — comes this spirited defense of the music:

My mother and father were good Christian homespun folks and although I haven't been as close to the church as I would like to have been during the last few years, I feel certain that the teachings of my folks were thorough and that my conscience will not let me travel far from the straight and narrow. So, how could I develop an unhealthy music as I think straight and try to live right?

If rock-and-roll is wrong, if it's bad for the young folks (and I know it isn't) I will be the first one to stop playing it.

THAT'S THE WAY the musicians themselves see rock-and-roll. You pays your money and you takes your choice and if you don't agree with somebody, he ain't nothing but a hound dog.

Man Finally Gets Fed Up With Vandalism

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Vandalism looking for "kicks" are liable to get one "right in the seat of the pants from a shotgun" if they pick on Harold Wheeler any more.

Wheeler said he wasn't overly concerned when somebody punctured his picture window in two places with BB shot last December.

And he said he laughed it off when somebody placed stones under the wheels of his car so he couldn't move it.

But now, Wheeler says if "something isn't done" he's going to get out his 12-gauge shotgun and "be ready" the next time.

Sunday night somebody drove a car over his lawn, knocked down two maple trees and threw a stone through his picture window.

Workmen of the State Highway garage here will be able to combat snow and ice conditions on Columbiana County roads more effectively next winter as a result of a two-way radio communication system being installed in the local state garage.

A 100-foot radio tower, which is topped by an eleven foot antenna, was erected at the northwest corner of the garage a month ago but as yet the radio equipment has not been installed. It is expected that the project will be completed this summer.

When completed, the local state garage will have two way communication with trucks working on state roads. Communication between the division headquarters at New Philadelphia and all other county garages in division 11 will be possible when the system is in operation.

An experimental setup was put in operation last summer and worked satisfactorily.

SIX TABLES of 500 were in play at the benefit card party sponsored by the K. of C. Auxiliary Friday evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Nelle Helt, Thomas Barrett and Mrs. Howard Feicht. Lunch was served by the committee.

New Construction Continues Here During Winter Expanding Your Attic Can

Add To Home's Living Space

AP Newsfeatures

An unfinished expansion attic gives a home owner the opportunity to increase the living space of his house when the occasion demands.

Lumber yards and building supply dealers can tell you that thousands of Americans are undertaking this project on their own. To most of these thousands, it is a first-time venture into the actual construction of anything as large as a room.

Entirely aside from the choice materials, which is governed largely by individual taste and the size of the pocketbook, there are other decisions to be made before getting down to the work itself. These involve such things as the height of the ceiling, the size of the walls, the depth of built-ins and the amount of storage space. You can't do much about these matters in most extra rooms. In a basement, for instance, your construction of a finished area is guided to a considerable degree by the physical set-up as it stands. But in an attic, almost everything is determined by you, and an amazing amount of flexibility is possible.

If you want the room to be as wide as possible, then the side walls, known as knee walls, must be very low. The higher the knee walls, the narrower the room will be. And the narrower the room, the more storage space you'll have under the eaves, assuming that you are planning on using the space for storage.

Make It Easy

One way of saving yourself work is to make the knee walls 4 feet high, especially if you are using wallboard or plywood or any of the materials which come in dimensions of 4 feet by 7 or 8 feet. This will keep cutting to a minimum. Further cutting can be eliminated by making the distance between the top of the knee walls and the start of the ceiling also 4 feet.

Probably the greatest work and time saver of all is a sketch of the entire layout as you want it to be. It doesn't have to be a work of art, just a diagram showing exactly where everything is, giving measurements, and clear enough to be understood by you when you look at it a day or a week or a month later.

You'll recognize the importance of such a sketch when you begin putting up the framework for the walls. It will show you, to give just one example, when to omit one or two upright studs at a particular spot in order to make room for a closet or a built-in. If you put up all the studding without regard for planned recesses, you'll have a lot of needless cutting later on. Perhaps that seems very fundamental to you, but it's surprising how many times studding has to be cut out of a framework because the amateur builder neglected to leave space for one or more desired built-ins. And while we're on the subject, don't forget that all attic door and window openings should be framed with double 2 by 4's, just as they should be in all good construction.

Tiles Come Last

Most expansion attics have sub-floors, which should be covered with plywood or hardboard if you plan on putting down asphalt or vinyl or any of the other resilient floor tiles. This base, or underlayment, should be put down after you put up the framework for the walls but before you install the wall material. The tiles themselves need not be laid until the rest of the room is completed.

DO... use a portable belt sander for heavy duty work, especially on large, flat surfaces.

DO... allow the belt to gain momentum, lower the machine slowly so that the back part of the belt touches first, then quickly bring it to a horizontal position as you move it forward.

DO... guide the sander back and forth in a sort of stroking motion, applying very little pressure.

DO... when you decide to stop for any reason, lift the sander from the wood to prevent taking off an excessive amount in one spot.

DON'T... push the machine too far over the edges of the surface being sanded, as this will cause the machine to tilt and produce rounded edges.

DON'T... forget to check the alignment of the belt every so often to be sure the abrasive is not rubbing against the frame; every belt sander has a screw arrangement to keep the belt running in a straight line.

DON'T... turn on the switch while the sander is on the work surface, otherwise it may "run" off onto the floor.

DON'T... use a belt sander on thin veneers, as it is a power-plus machine that might cut through the surface before you realize it.

Q — Is there a rule-of-thumb for selecting correct nail size for a particular job?

A — One very general rule, with plenty of exceptions, is this: Two-thirds the length of the nail should be in the base piece of lumber once it is fully hammered in place. One-third of its length is sufficient to hold securely the piece of wood being fastened to the base.

HOME SHOW OPENS MARCH 9

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Home and Flower Show will be held March 9-17 in Cleveland Public Hall.

Kitchen arithmetic: a half teaspoon of baking soda used with one cup of buttermilk will neutralize the acid in the buttermilk and leaven one cup of flour.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation

When the wind blows — this baby won't rock!

You can buck the strongest blasts of March in The Mighty Chrysler without road-sway or hard steering. Impartial wind tunnel tests proved that Chrysler's high rear fins cut down tail-wagging in the wind just as an airplane's vertical tail section prevents side-sway.

Wind or no wind, Chrysler's Torsion-Aire Ride makes the sharpest turns, the quickest stops, the roughest roads a breeze to take. No other fine car has this exclusive combination of torsion bars, rubber-isolated ball-joints, and outrigger rear springs. It gives you the comfort and safety of a luxury car with the "feel" and roadability of a sports car.

Combine this new kind of suspension with an up-to-325 horsepower engine, a satiny new pushbutton-operated Torque-Flite transmission*, plus all the other 1957 improvements your Chrysler dealer will show you, and you'll agree—this is your car!

Shorter jacket has linings through waist and front that preserve The Pretty Shape. The famous fabric: Palm Beach-D (D for Dacron, added for a softer, silkier touch). (Below). The look of silk in biscuit tulle. With its own checked taffeta swag to tie or tuck-in. Jeweled buttons. $25

Why Repairs Were Ordered To Legion Home

These photographs, submitted by Fire Chief Clarence Wright, show interior views of the attic and roof section of the American Legion Home, which has been ordered closed by the state building inspector until repairs are made.

Photo at top left shows how the heavy, notched attic beams are completely pulled away from side timbers. Pictured (top right) is one of several cracks in brick walls. Bottom shows heavy planks nailed across beams for temporary reinforcement.

Neither the roof nor the attic supports are steel, Chief Wright declared. State Building Inspector John W. Lyden and Chief Wright have ordered a halt to the Village Green on the west end of the Legion Home until the post home itself is made safe for public use.

Will a broker try to "sell" me?

Not any of our brokers. In our office, there's one rule that's never broken: never "sell" an investor. If you don't want our advice, we don't offer it.

You are investing your money. You know what you want it to get for you . . . income, capital growth or whatever. That's your part in shopping for the right stocks. Our part is to supply the information we have.

We tell you what kind of dividends and earnings a company has produced in the past; we tell you how it stands now; and we tell you what we believe the future holds for it. And that's all. You make the decisions.

Our customers like it that way. So do we. We feel that we're here to help you, not to boss you. Why don't you come in and see just how helpful we can be?
